B. C. MILNER

Senior Civil Engineer On Railroad Valuation, of Louisville, Appointed to Head Field Work in South.

Notice of the appointment of B. C. Milner, of Louisville, former railroad man and widely known as a civil engineer, to the position of senior civil engineer of the Southern Valuation district, in the work of making valuations of railroads as undertaken by the Interstate Commerce Commission, was received Thursday the 4th inst, from Judge Charles A. Prouty, director of valuation for the commission.

The notice stated that the appointment would be effective at once, and Mr. Milner will depart this morning for Chattanooga, headquarters for the Southern district, where he will be stationed. However, he will have general charge of the field work in the South and will be the chief assistant to Howard M. Jones, who is in General charge of the district.

The appointment of Mr. Milner to the important post of senior civil engineer recalls the efforts of Louisville commercial organizations to have the headquarters of the Southern district established in this city.

Mr. Milner formerly was with the operating department of the Southern railway as division superintendent and with the engineering department as resident engineer. He received his technical education at the University of Georgia, receiving his first experience in the building of the Yazoo & Mississippi Valley road in 1882 and 1883. He turned to coal mine engineering in 1884 and spent two years as an engineer in the Birmingham district. In 1885 he returned to railroad work, serving with the Covington & Macon and Georgia Southern & Florida railroad until 1891. In 1893 and 1894 he was connected with the planning of the Cotton States and international Exposition in Atlanta, which was held in 1895. In the latter part of 1895 he became connected with the Southern railway, and in 1907, when he resigned to take a position with the Cumberland railroad, was superintendent of the Kentucky division of the Southern. He recently left the Cumberland and has been engaged in the general contracting business in Louisville. [Courier-Journal of March 5th.]

BISHOP THOMAS BOWMAN BURIED AT GREENCASTLE

Among the Bishops who attended were Theodore S. Henderson, Chattanooga, Tenn., W. F. Anderson, Cincinnati, and David H. Moore, of Indianapolis. The pall-bearers were ministers and officials of the church.

SMALLPOX.

February 28, 1914.

To the health officials and people of Kentucky:—

A few cases of smallpox exist in most of the counties of Kentucky. This loathsome disease can only occur in people who have not been vaccinated. Quarantine against individual cases of smallpox is expensive and useless, as it only gives a false sense of security. No one who has been properly vaccinated at least three places on the arm, has ever had smallpox in Kentucky. There has never been an arm nor a life lost from vaccination in Kentucky. Properly done by a competent physician, it is devoid of danger, is inexpensive and is the only preventative against smallpox. More money has been spent, most of it uselessly, in combatting smallpox in the last few years in Kentucky than has been expended in thirty years in protecting our people from typhoid fever, consumption and the other common diseases of everyday life, and yet more deaths have occurred from either typhoid or consumption in the past year than smallpox, yellow fever and cholera, combined, have caused in a century.

The Board is frequently asked why the law requires vaccination at three points an inch apart on the arm. Because experience teaches in Germany that no one having three or more good scars has had smallpox. Vaccination does its work of protection through the glands under the arm. Charging these glands from three points instead of one makes them manufacture more of the protective element.

As soon as a case of smallpox occurs every individual exposed should be promptly vaccinated or revaccinated and there should be no second case of the disease. It is unnecessary to quarantine the well, provided they have been successfully vaccinated.

It is a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of from $100 to $1,000 for any one having an eruption even resembling smallpox to go on any public street or road or any place where well people are. If the court officials will enforce this law and the one requiring vaccination, they will actually put into practice some real economy instead of the variety it is popular to talk about at election time. To prevent not only smallpox, but the common and more dangerous diseases that cause most of our sickness and death in Kentucky, we need simply real education, actual law enforcement, and a health officer in each jurisdiction who can devote his entire time to, and earn a living by preventing sickness and death instead of treating people for unnecessary sickness.

It is a violation of the law to be unvaccinated, and it is also unlawful for any person, firm or company to employ any unvaccinated person in any work for salary or wages of any kind. Intelligent people will be vaccinated without compulsion because it is reasonable, necessary and lawful; and health and other officials are urged to see that those who are not intelligent be compelled to be vaccinated so that the unnecessary drain on the city and county treasuries and on the purses of the people themselves from this entirely unnecessary pestilence be stopped. Smallpox, like murder, will only be prevented when the law is enforced. In Germany they have no smallpox because they enforce compulsory education and compulsory vaccination.

This Board urges all people of Kentucky who read this to be vaccinated themselves at once, or be revaccinated if they have not been vaccinated within seven years, and to see that their families, neighbors and dependents are vaccinated immediately.

Fresh reliable vaccine virus may be secured from the State Board of Health, Bowling Green, Kentucky, for $6.50 for each one hundred points.

By order of the Board,
John G. South, Pres,
A. T. McCormack, Sec.

ROSS THOMPSON ACQUITTED

Young Knox County Lawyer Overcomes Race Prejudice in Trial at Atlanta, Georgia.

Roscoe Thompson promptly acquitted of the charge of rape on popular white girl in Atlanta, Ga. Message received here Tuesday afternoon announcing acquittal of Roscoe Thompson, colored. His lawyer, James S. Golden, recently admitted to the bar, made a fine showing and after more than two weeks investigation of the facts in Atlanta where prejudice against his client ran high, unearthed facts sufficient to show his client's innocence, although the young lady positively identified him as her assailant. Feeling was such that immediately after the verdict of the jury finding him not guilty, he was hastened back to jail for fear of mob violence. Golden and his client left Atlanta Tuesday night for Barbourville.

MANY DIE IN FIRE

FOURTEEN BODIES RECOVERED
26 ARE STILL IN DEBRIS OF
ST. LOUIS CLUB.

RESCUERS WORK ALL NIGHT

Seven-Story Building Occupied by the Missouri Athletic Club Destroyed—Dozen Men Slide Down Rope to Safety.

St. Louis March 11.—Forty men are known to have perished and 29 were injured in a fire that destroyed the seven-story building occupied by the Missouri Athletic club on Monday. Fourteen bodies were recovered; 26 are missing.

The building was owned by the Boatmen's bank, which occupied part of the first floor. The bank opened temporary quarters in a building four blocks away. In the vaults of the burned building, officials said, are $1,349,000 in currency and $27,000 in coin. This money, it is believed, is intact.

The cause of the fire is unknown. Assistant Fire Chief Tucker said he found the floor about the desk of the clerk caved in, but an adjoining part of the floor seemed to have been blown upward, indicating that the fire was caused by an explosion.

When the firemen arrived on the scene the flames were shooting out of the roof and all the windows above the second floor. Men were jumping from windows and others were descending ropes made of bed clothes tied together. More than a dozen jumped several stories to the roofs of adjoining buildings and escaped with broken legs or less serious injuries.

Thrilling stories of the fire were told at the city hospital by persons who were injured.

About twelve men escaped from the fifth floor by descending a rope made out of two sheets tied together.

At the 12 men stood on the roof of the seed store they saw about twenty persons at the windows of the sixth and seventh floors of the club.

The entire city fire department, aided by 50 policemen and volunteer squads, worked frantically all night to force a way into the ruins of the Missouri Athletic club building, from which eight identified bodies already have been taken, in the slight hope that some of the missing may be rescued.

The known dead follow: John M. Rickey, Chicago, treasurer and auditor Ford Manufacturing company of St. Paul; A. J. Odegard, Chicago, sales agent railway supply company; L. A. Ruff, St. Louis, buyer for a wholesale hardware company; Edwin C. Kessler, St. Louis, cashier wire company, killed in leap from sixth floor; James D. Reilly, contractor, St. Louis, body identified by doorman of Missouri Athletic club; unidentified man. The man listed as unidentified may be William E. Erd of East St. Louis. The body was identified also as that of Allen Hancock of St. Louis.

VANDERBILT IS DEAD

SUCCUMBS TO OPERATION FOR APPENDICITIS.

Built the Biltmore Estate Near Asheville, N. C., and Developed Forestry School.

Washington, March 9.—George W. Vanderbilt of New York died here on Friday from the effects of an operation for appendicitis performed several days ago. He was the youngest son of W. H. Vanderbilt.

Dr. James Mitchell, the attending physician, stated that Mr. Vanderbilt died from a pulmonary embolus, a blood clot in the lungs. He explained that the operation for appendicitis had been successful, but the blood clot was the direct cause.

George Washington Vanderbilt was born at New Dorp, S. L. N. Y., on November 14, 1862. He was a son of William Henry Vanderbilt and a grandson of "the commodore." His early life was spent like that of his brothers and like that of other sons of wealthy families. He was educated by private tutors and at the best private schools, and he traveled and studied a great deal abroad.

In 1898 Mr. Vanderbilt married Edith Stuyvesant Dresser, the witty and talented daughter of Capt. G. W. Dresser, U. S. A. This marriage was "deplorable" by many matrons of the "smart set" in New York and Newport on the ground that the bride was "not aristocratic enough." Mr. Vanderbilt, however, pleased himself—and his wife won a reputation as one of the cleverest of hostesses in America.

The Vanderbilts had three homes. One was at 40 Fifth avenue, New York city, another in Bar Harbor, Me., and the third—the real home—at Biltmore, the hundred thousand acre estate in the mountains of North Carolina.

Biltmore, under Vanderbilt's personal supervision, became a vast experimental laboratory of industry. The best methods of dairying were sought and found; the science of farming was developed in an unprecedented degree; the infant science of forestry was developed under no less a man than Gifford Pinchot, who was one of Mr. Vanderbilt's lieutenants.

SEIZURE STIRS U. S.

WAR OFFICE AND BRYAN ORDER INQUIRY OF VERGARA INCIDENT ON BORDER.

VICTIM TORTURED TO DEATH

Corpse Contained Several Bullets, Head Crushed in and Hands Were Charred—Carranza Orders Villa Not to Harm Terrazas.

Washington, March 11.—The United States government is engaged in seeking information as to the circumstances under which the body of Clemente Vergara, an American horse dealer supposed to have been killed by Mexican federal soldiers near Hidalgo, Mex., was found on the American side of the Rio Grande. The solitary fact known officially to the state and war departments is that the body is on Texas soil.

A brief telegram to the state department from American Consul Garrett at Nuevo Laredo, Mex., informed the state department that the body had been found and that details would be reported by mail.

The slow mail process did not satisfy Secretary Bryan, who promptly wired the consul to make his report by telegraph. This is now being awaited.

Laredo, Texas, March 10.—Several Texas rangers said to have been acting under orders from Governor Colquitt crossed into Mexico on Sunday, exhumed the body of Clemente Vergara, the Texas ranchman who was kidnapped and put to death by a band of Mexican federales three weeks ago, and brought the body back to the American side.

The body was in such a good state of preservation that it was easily identified, and all the wounds could be distinguished. There were several bullet wounds on the body and the head had been crushed in with some blunt instrument. The charred condition of the hands indicated that Vergara had been tortured before being put to death.

Washington, March 10.—Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, British ambassador, called at the state department and informed Secretary Bryan that an Englishman named Sydnan had been driven off his ranch and that his property was in danger of destruction. Mr. Bryan immediately telegraphed to Consul Leitch at Chihuahua to make an inquiry and report the facts. If necessary a protest will be made to Carranza.

El Paso, Texas, March 10.—Declaring that General Villa's action in demanding payment of $250,000 from General Luis Terrazas under threats of sending his son, Luis Terrazas II, to the front rank in the attack on Torreon was creating a bad impression in the United States, General Carranza wired orders to Villa to withdraw the demand and refrain from mistreating the younger Terrazas in any way. Although Villa has not yet replied, it is taken for granted that he will obey the order.

TO AMEND CANAL ACT

HOUSE BODY FAVORS BILL WHICH PROHIBITS FREE TOLLS.

Comments On President's Message, Are of Widely Divergent Nature.

Washington, March 9.—By a vote of 14 to 3 the house interstate commerce committee decided on Friday to report favorably the bill repealing the clause of the Panama canal act which grants free tolls to American coastwise shipping.

On Thursday after President Wilson had called upon congress to act, Senator Chilton of West Virginia introduced a bill to amend the Panama canal act and permit the repeal of the clause exempting American coastwise shipping from the payment of tolls. The text of the provision reads:

"The president notwithstanding anything herein contained is hereby authorized and empowered by proclamation to make, suspend, alter, change, or abolish any tolls contemplated or provided for by this act, and may prescribe tolls to be charged in any case in which tolls are prohibited herein."

Comment upon the president's message among members of the house was widely divergent. Representative Floyd of Arkansas of the judiciary committee, said:

"I absolutely approve of the sentiment expressed by President Wilson. We made a great mistake in ever providing for free tolls."

Representative Doremus of Michigan, chairman of the Democratic congressional campaign committee, said:

"The president has not changed my mind a bit. I have been for free tolls all along and will continue the fight against any repeal."

ST. PAUL'S HEADS ARE HIT

Charged That False Report Was Made to Interstate Commerce Body.

Washington, March 9.—"Serious irregularities" in the accounting of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad company was charged in the report made public on Friday of an interstate commerce commission investigation by Commissioner Harlan, which makes the direct allegation that irregularities in reports of operations submitted to the commission were made to influence favorable disposition of St. Paul railway securities.

The irregularities disclosed by this inquiry, Commissioner Harlan points out, are similar to those disclosed by the commission's investigation into the financial operations of the New Haven and the Frisco system. It is asserted that "the income of the Puget Sound was greatly overstated, a variety of expedients being resorted to for this purpose;" and that "the fictitious showing of income was used by the officers of the Puget Sound company to aid in the sale of the bonds." No reflection is made by the report upon the financial condition of the two roads.

Among the buildings burned were two owned by the United Fruit Co., one bank and several stores and dwellings. The actual extent of the fire could not be learned here definitely. ### FAMOUS PICTURE MUTILATED.

London.—May Richardson, a militant suffragette, inflicted severe damage on the famous Velasquez picture, known as the "Rokeby Venus," which is hung in the National gallery, Trafalgar square. The picture was purchased for $225,000 in 1906 and presented to the nation. Art experts have estimated its present market value at $500,000. Cuts depreciated its sale value by $75,000, it is said. The woman entered the gallery and attacked the picture with a hatchet, making six or seven bad cuts across the canvas.

TWO PINTS OF BLOOD USED.

TROOPS RULE BRAZILIAN STATE.

Rio de Janeiro.—Martial law was proclaimed throughout the state of Ceara. Federal troops have been placed on guard at the principal commercial and private houses at Fortaleza, the state capital, owing to the outbreak of a strike. Martial law was proclaimed in this city several days. The commander of the troops at Fortaleza telegraphed to the Minister of War that trade was at a standstill, and the strikers were parading the streets, threatening the populace and breaking into private dwellings.

—solved once for all by Calumet. For daily use in millions of kitchens has proved that Calumet is highest not only in quality but in leavening power as well—unfailing in results—pure to the extreme—and wonderfully economical in use. Ask your grocer. And try Calumet next bake day.

World's Pure Food Exposition, Chicago, Ill. Paris Exposition, France, March, 1911.

You don't save money when you buy cheap or inferior baking powder. Don't be misled. Buy Calumet. It's more economical—more wholesome—gives best results. Calumet is far superior to sour milk and soda.

PIONEERS OF THE FRONTIER

Reb-Blooded Men and Women Were Those Who Carved an Empire From Wilderness.

No doubt the "run of the continent" has improved the fiber of the American people. Of course, the well established and the intellectuals had no motive to seek the west; but in energy and venturesomeness those who sought the frontier were superior to the average of those in their class who stayed behind. It was the pike rather than the carp that found their way out of the pool. Now, in the main, those who pushed through the open door of opportunity left more children than their fellows who did not. Often themselves members of large families, they had fecundity, as it were, in the blood. With land abundant and the outlook encouraging, they married earlier. In the narrow life of the young West, love and family were stronger interest than in the older society; hence all married. Thanks to cheap living and to the need of helpers, the big family was welcomed. Living by agriculture, the West knew little of cities, manufactures, social rivalry, luxury and a serving class, all foes of rapid multiplication.—From "Origins of the American People," by Prof. Edward A. Ross, in the Century.

A Clue.

Thornton had been taught never to tell tales, and he intended to live up to his teaching, but sometimes it was hard work.

"Thornton," said his mother one evening, "I left a dish of chocolate peppermints on my table this afternoon and there isn't one there now. Have you and Gerald eaten them?"

"I haven't eaten one," replied the boy stoutly, "but"—then he remembered he must not be a talebearer. "Well, mother," he continued, "perhaps, if—you'd better just smell Gerald, and I guess then you'll know all about it!"—Illustrated Sunday Magazine.

Correction.

"My poor husband got mixed up innocently in that shooting affray, and the brought him home to me half dead."

"No, madam; only half shot."

Many a proverb is merely a smart-sounding saying that cannot bear analysis.

IRELAND'S PATRON SAINT

Ireland, thanks to the saint's eloquence and fervor, became a Christian country. His grand work accomplished St. Patrick died at Downpatrick, March 17, 463, it is said.

HIS GREAT LOVE
FOR HIS PEOPLE

St. Patrick's Confession Shows
How Ardent He Longed for Their Welfare.

Epistle Has Been Declared Worthy of the Greatest of the Teachers of the Word—Breastplate of Prayer a Short Litany—His Synod.

HOW yearningly St. Patrick loved his people may be learned from the following passage in his Confession, worthy of St. Augustine or St. Paul: "If I have ever done any good for the sake of my God, whom I love, I beg him to grant me that I may shed my blood with these proselytes and captives for his sake, even though I should never receive burial, or each member of my body should be most horribly thrown to the dogs and wild beasts, or the birds of prey should feed upon it." (Par. 24.)

His Confession ends with these words: "And this is my confession before I die." (Par. 25.)

For its humility, sweetness, faith, love and self-sacrifice it must be admired by all who read it.

The Breastplate of Prayer of St. Patrick is a sort of short litany pro-feeling belief in and invoking the blessed Trinity. Our Lord's incarnation, resurrection and ascension; calling on the powers of heaven, of earth, etc., invoking Christ for himself and all of his.

From other works not surely composed by St. Patrick, though probably reflecting the beliefs and practices of his times or those soon after him in Ireland, the synod of St. Patrick is composed of 81 canons. The twelfth is entitled: On our obligation toward the dead. And in the eighteenth is given an original interpretation of the three different degrees of fruitfulness of the gospel seed, declaring that those who are to reap a hundredfold reward are the bishops and doctors, who are all things to all men; those who are to have the sixtyfold are the clergy and widows; the thirtyfold shall be received by the laymen who are faithful. He also places monks and virgins with those who shall have the hundredfold.

A PRAYER.

(By St. Patrick, Apostle of Ireland, at Tara's Hill.)

At Tara today! the strength of God pilot me; the power of God preserve me; the wisdom of God instruct me; the eye of God watch over me; the ear of God hear me; the word of God give me sweet talk; the hand of God defend me; the way of God guide me. Christ be with me; Christ before me; Christ after me; Christ over me; Christ under me; Christ on my right hand; Christ on my left hand; Christ on this side; Christ on that side; Christ at my back; Christ in the heart of every person to whom I speak; Christ in the mouth of every person who speaks to me; Christ in the ear of every person who hears me. At Tara, today, I invoke the mighty power of the Trinity. Salvation is the Lord's—salvation is the Lord's. Salvation is Christ's. May thy salvation, O Lord, be always with us!

He who does not receive communion at Easter is declared to be not a "faithful" (Canon 22).

It is interesting to note that the synod forbids a man to take his dead brother's widow to wife, and declares that she shall be to him only a sister (Canon 25).

Little sympathy was given to avarice among the clergy, according to decrees IV., VIII. and XIII., while decree XIV. is interesting in showing that for murder, evil living or consulting auspices the sinner shall do penance for a year and afterward he shall be absolved by the priest.

After these follow a few "other canons attributed to St. Patrick," then the "Charter of St. Patrick," on the antiquity of the Church of Gastonbury in England, very quaint and entertaining. Next we have "The Book of St. Patrick the Bishop on the Three Dwellings," a profound yet practical and unctuous sermon on heaven, hell and this world.

Saint Knew Persecution.

If St. Patrick's conversion of Ireland was without persecution in the ordinary sense of the word, as used in the history of the church, yet he assures us: "I went about everywhere for your sakes in many dangers, even to the furthest district, beyond which nobody lived, and where no one had ever gone to baptize or to ordain clerics or to encourage the people; by the help of the Lord I have done all these things most faithfully and freely for your salvation." He tells us even that "on a certain dreadful day they tried most earnestly to kill me . . . and they threw me into chains. But on the fourteenth day the Lord delivered me from their power."

LOWER FARE ON ALL RAILROADS

FOUR OTHER SYSTEMS MUST FOLLOW CUT MADE BY THE L. & N.

EFFECTIVE IN FEW WEEKS

Saving Approaching a Million Dollars a Year to Traveling Public Will Result—Bill Before Legislature Would Reduce Passenger Rate Half a Cent More.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.
Louisville, Ky.—Announcement by the L. & N. Railroad Company that it would reduce passenger rates from 3 to 2½ cents before April first caused a big stir in railway circles and has excited interest in all parts of the state. In order to compete with the Louisville & Nashville for passenger business, four other roads, the Southern railway, Chesapeake & Ohio, Illinois Central and the Louisville, Henderson & St. Louis road, will have to follow the lead. According to calculations made on the total mileage of the various lines, this will mean a saving of at least $800,000 a year to the traveling public. According to the various passenger agents of the outside roads, their general offices will take prompt action in the matter which means that the next week or so will bring official announcements of cuts in passenger rates effective April 1.

Company Explains Course.

In a statement the L. & N. Railroad Company sets out that its action is voluntary and taken "in order to equalize the rates in its home state with the rates effective or to be made effective on or before the date mentioned." In Tennessee or Alabama. The company does not withdraw from its contention that its three-cent fare is "not wholly remunerative and is not unfair to the public," but applies the lower rate "in deference to public opinion." In fulfilling promises heretofore given that Kentucky would fare as well as other states and in the "hope that increased volume of traffic will save material losses."

SUSPECTED OF INCENDIARISM.

Pineville, Ky.—John Jackson, a negro employee of the Big Hill Mining Co. in its camp at Blanche, was arrested at the instance of Assistant State Fire Marshal John G. Evans in connection with two alleged incendiary fires at Blanche, in which property of the mining company was destroyed. On December 29 an attempt was made to burn the bungalow occupied by the president of the mining company, but the fire was discovered in time to extinguish it. On January 2, however, a second attempt resulted in the destruction of the bungalow, the incendiary having made sure of his work by first cutting the hose used for fire protection. A few days later the mine drumhouse was also burned.

BOND ISSUE HELD INVALID.

Frankfort, Ky.—The $25,000 bond issue for the construction of a municipal water plant and a $20,000 bond issue for the construction of a sewer system in Marion, Crittenden county, were declared to be invalid by the court of appeals. The constitution provides that the indebtedness of a city of the fifth class, to which Marion belongs, shall not be greater than 75 cents on the $100 value of property. The school indebtedness is so great in Marion that it requires 60 cents on the $100 to pay it, and it would require 62 cents on the $100 to create a sinking fund to pay this debt.

BERRY GROWERS CO-OPERATE.

Bowling Green, Ky.—Four carloads of fertilizer for the use of the strawberry growers of the county have been received. A final meeting of the growers was held in this city for the purpose of closing orders for this season. It is expected that the shipments of the plants and crates and other supplies will begin the middle of March, and the first shipment of 2,000,000 plants will arrive here about March 12.

FEARS SON WAS VICTIM.

Lexington, Ky.—William Wood, a lawyer of this city, fears that his son, Alexander Campbell Wood, from whom he has not heard for some time, is the Wood press dispatches stated was one of three Americans who have recently died from brutal treatment in a Mexican prison, and he has written to Secretary of State Bryan, asking that an examination be made.

NATURAL GAS IS TAPPED.

Whitesburg, Ky.—At a depth of but a few hundred feet, well-drillers for the Mineral Fuel Company, in the new town of Haymond, in this county, have struck a rich flow of natural gas, and it is said that the company will develop the gas and use it in the operation of its coal plants around Haymond and Fleming. It is now believed that the entire territory around Boones Fork is rich in gas.

WOMAN WHO KILLED MAN IS SENTENCED TO PRISON.

Pikeville, Ky.—Mrs. Maude Taylor, 30 years old, was sentenced to the penitentiary for from two to twenty-one years for the killing of Cleveland Huffman. The case attracted wide attention. Mrs. Taylor is one of few women ever convicted for manslaughter in Kentucky.

HUNDRED CASES FOUND

Tuberculosis Commission Reports on Activities During Month.

Frankfort, Ky.—The State Tuberculosis Commission has issued a statement in which it says:
"In the past month the health exhibit car of the Kentucky Tuberculosis Commission has covered the principal railroad points in Meade, Breckinridge, Hancock and Ohio counties in addition, with a total attendance of over 7,600 people, in spite of the bad weather and bad roads.

"The three nurses and an experienced organizer, employed by the commission, detailed to the cities of Ashland, Paris, Georgetown and Mayfield, have, in the last month, discovered about 100 cases of tuberculosis, many of them being pitiable instances. Cases where whole families are made destitute through the sickness of the father or mother are not uncommon. These workers endeavor not only to teach the family just how best to care for the sick person and to protect the other members of the family, but, more than that, endeavor to form public health leagues to support permanently visiting nurses.

"The Tuberculosis Commission is encouraged at the widespread interest in its work found throughout the State and is planning to reach all of the people of several counties in educational work during the summer, besides conducting intensive work with nurses in certain localities."

TOBACCO REVENUE DROPS

Demand for Cigarette Leaf Shows
Decided Activity and Pulls Up
Total.

Covington, Ky.—Although the total collections of internal revenue from tobacco sources in the United States during the month of January were not so large as the corresponding month last year, the industry as a whole does not compare altogether unfavorably with the productions at the opening of 1913, according to local interpretation of government statistics. Cigars and manufactured tobacco show a slight falling off in volume, but cigarettes made a substantial gain, as did also small cigars and snuff, which partially made up for the decreased production in other lines. With the cigarette outputs mounting higher almost monthly, it is not unlikely that the prediction that this branch of the tobacco manufacturing industry will soon be the most profitable revenue producer for the government may be fulfilled in at least one particular before the end of the current year.

THREE NEW TIMBER MILLS.

Whitesburg, Ky.—The Coeburn Lumber Company, Coeburn, Va., is preparing to install two lumber mills on the Heuser Coal Company's timber tract on Pine Creek, near Mayking, five miles above here, where they will give employment to a large number of men. The Valley Creek Lumber Company, of Rochester, N. Y., will also install a large saw mill at Mayking.

HOMICIDES IN JESSAMINE.

Nicholasville, Ky.—Hugh Moberly, of Garrard county, who was tried on the charge of murder, was convicted of manslaughter. He killed a negro. The grand jury returned indictments against D. B. Bishop and Charles Hanly for murder. The former is charged with having killed Robert Gorham at Wilmore. The latter, who is coroner of the county, killed a negro.

NARROW ESCAPE FOR THREE.

Carlisle, Ky.—Mrs. Dan Westfall, her baby and six-year-old son, while crossing a stream, which was high from melting snow, at Miller Station, were thrown into the water when the saddle girth broke. The boy was washed down the stream some distance and under a water gap, but was rescued. Mrs. Westfall held the babe out of the water until she was rescued.

NEW TRANSYLVANIA TEACHER.

Lexington, Ky.—Prof. A. C. Kuykendall, of Hopkinsville, former president of McLean college, has been added to the faculty of Transylvania university, to take charge of some of the classes of the late Prof. S. M. Jefferson. Rev. I. J. Spencer has been appointed to the chair of homiletics.

HELD FOR KILLING AT DANCE.

New Castle, Ky.—The examining trial of John A. and Alfred Mahorney, charged with killing of Charles T. Young, of Port Royal, was held before County Judge Newton Kavanaugh. Alfred Mahorney was held to the grand jury without bail, while John P. Mahorney was admitted to bail in the sum of $500. The killing occurred while a dance was in progress at the home of John P. Mahorney. Witnesses testified that Young was disorderly and that he wielded a knife.

WORK OF AUTO BANDITS

Louisville Jeweler and Employee Bound and Gagged While Robbers Work.

Louisville, Ky.—Two armed robbers took $3,900 in cash and jewelry from an open safe in the store of W. P. Brandenburg, 632 West Market street, while Brandenburg and his watchmaker, Ernest G. Sinnock, lay bound and gagged in a rear workroom. News of the robbery reached police headquarters by telephone when the prisoners freed themselves of the towels with which they had been tied, a few minutes after the holdup men escaped through the front door. Maj. Patrick Ridge, night chief of police, stationed special officers at all railroad, ferry and interurban stations and notified all police districts to maintain a watch for the robbers at suburban points, but they escaped, it is believed, by automobile.

The robbery occurred while the store was lighted and pedestrians were passing by scores. The victims were forced into the rear room at the points of revolvers, gagged and then bound hand and foot. A customer who called while the safe was being rifled was told by one of the robbers to call again, as the place was closed for the night.

TRANSPORTATION COMPLAINTS.

Bowling Green, Ky.—Representatives from the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington heard the complaints of the Bowling Green Business Men's Protective Association against the Bowling Green & Evansville Packet Company, the L. & N. Railroad Company and various other railroad companies, charging collusion and combination in restraint of trade. The hearing was in charge of Judge W. J. Wood, of Washington, and representatives and attorneys from all the defendant companies were in attendance.

DAM ACROSS THE CUMBERLAND.

Pineville, Ky.—Preparations are being made by Pineville citizens to build a dam across the Cumberland river about a mile below the town. This will give two miles of water deep enough for boating, bathing and other pleasures dependent upon deeper water than the Cumberland now affords at this place. A grist mill will be erected at the dam which, it is thought, will in time repay the expense of building the dam. A company has been formed to provide an amusement park.

REV. L. M. THEOBALD DEAD.

Campbellsville, Ky.—The body of the Rev. L. M. Theobald, 66, who died in Louisville, was buried in the I. O. O. F. cemetery here. He was a native of Grant county. For twelve years he made his home here. He was a former pastor of the Baptist church and served other churches of Sulphur Fork association.

EXTENSION OF POOL SHOWN.

Barboursville, Ky.—A new strike in the Allen county field, Western Kentucky, showed a one-mile extension of the pool developed near Scottsville. The new well produces about ten barrels daily. This strike is west of the proven area and will lead to many additional wells drilled beyond the proven lines.

NEW HOTEL FOR DANVILLE.

Danville, Ky.—The Danville Realty Co. has been tentatively organized for the purpose of erecting a new $100,000 hotel on the site of the Gilcher house, which was destroyed by fire. A plan is on foot to erect a modern opera house in connection with the hotel building.

INTERNATIONAL
SUNDAY SCHOOL
LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Director of Evening Department, The Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.)

LESSON FOR MARCH 15

LAWFUL USE OF THE SABBATH.

LESSON TEXT—Luke 13:10-17; 14:1-6.
GOLDEN TEXT—"The Sabbath was made for man and not man for the Sabbath."—Mark 2:27.

These two sections of scripture have been chosen that we might emphasize the truth of the golden text which can correctly be translated, "The Sabbath was brought into being on account of man, and not man on account of the Sabbath."

There are two extremes of thought and action as regards the Christian Sabbath. One is to make it a holiday, the other to make it a holy-day, to worship the day as though it possessed some secret sacredness thereby forgetting the author of the day. A study of what Jesus taught will check laxity on the one hand and correct fanatical error on the other.

Contrast Shown.

I. Jesus losing the woman, 13:10-17. This incident is a strong contrast between God's mercy and man's lack of mercy. Satan was to blame for the woman's illness (v. 16) and at the same time for the hardness of the hearts of these men. The incident occurred in a synagogue and displeased the leaders. As if to rebuke them Jesus not only spoke the word of relief but also touched her, causing an instantaneous and a complete cure. Her response was to glorify God. "The sight of this satanic captive acted in contrast upon Jesus and the ruled of the synagogue. Compassion and an utter lack of sympathy. More care for legalism than for the relief of one created in God's image. Jesus seems to have acted speedily and is today calling the unfortunate to him to be healed and comforted, Matt. 11:28-30. Jesus could have healed by a word only, John 5:40-43, but there is power also in the loving touch, which in this case quickened her faith (v. 13). The record does not suggest that her cure was in response to her faith as was the case in other cures, Matt. 8:10; 15:28. If the ruler had had a heart of compassion he too would have rejoiced at the cure, but he cared more for ceremonial ecclesiasticism than for the good of the worshipers and his emotion was that of indignation rather than that of joy. A religion that is more concerned with bondage to the beggarly elements, the observance of days (Gal. 4:9-11) is here denounced as hypocrisy (vv. 15, 16). It is to have more interest in property than in human souls. Ofttimes hatred for those who do not agree with us is covered up by a false fanatical pretended jealousy for the law of God.

Love's Attribute.

II. Jesus healing the man, 4:1-6. In this incident the question of the Sabbath is raised by Jesus himself, evidently in answer to their mental attitude, for "they watched him" (v. 1). Receiving no reply, Jesus first healed the man and then again reminded them of the care they gave their cattle. Jesus plainly implies that if they give care to an ox or an ass on the Sabbath, how can it possibly be wrong to relieve humanity on the Sabbath? Mercy and love are superior to ceremonies though these be of divine appointment. The reasoning is clear. Love is an attribute of God's character, I John 4:8, and therefore his own ceremonies must give way before the activities and energies of his being. Thus to act upon the principles that concern the value of an "ox or an ass" is to allow the lower to control the higher, for a man is of more value than the ox. These Pharisees were exceedingly religious, great for the "letter of the law," but they were dried up at heart, and consequently far worse off than the man with the dropsy. It is small wonder then that the master's reply should silence them so "they could not answer him."

The Teaching.—It is true that fundamentally the Sabbath idea is one of worship and rest, but the reason for its existence is because of man's need of that rest. That true rest can be found only in a true and intelligent spiritual fellowship with God. Anything, therefore, that interferes with or hinders rest breaks the Sabbath and should be removed in order that the Sabbath intention may be observed. These men were justified in leading an ox or an ass to water on the Sabbath or to rescue one in peril. On the same principle any work which enables men to enter into a Sabbath rest is not only justifiable but necessary in the interest of the Sabbath itself. They cared for cattle only as cattle, their property; we must care for men for their own sakes and in his interest and behalf.

The Sabbath must never be desecrated by being made an instrument of harm to man. It is always desecrated when, in the presence of human need, we decline to render service on the plea of the sanctity of the day. A false ceremonial sanctity of any particular day must never be permitted to destroy the underlying, truly essential, sanction and authority for a Sabbath rest. Physically we do not each night fully regain our lost energy and need the seventh day to balance the account. Spiritually we need the strength that comes from the Sabbath day's rest, Isa. 30:15.

Editorial

WHAT WILL HIS FUTURE BE?

We have been asked the question many times, since the impeachment proceedings were brought and dismissed against Judge Sampson, what he would do in the future; that is, whether or not he will be a candidate for re-election. We do not know, and we would not be absolutely safe in saying just what the Judge is going to do, but we will wager a doughnut that none of the fellow who took part in the impeachment proceedings will succeed him.

What was it that the Committee said in reviewing this case? "The Voters of the District are intelligent people, and we believe we ought to let the people settle it themselves." We agree with them exactly, and we would be glad to see just what the voters of this district would do in the matter, but we are confident that if Judge Sampson decides to make the race that the voters will give him such a vindication that the Committee will feel proud, not only of Judge Sampson, but that they decided that impeachment case as they did, and when the poles are cried, we will show that Judge Sampson is not only an honest, fair minded man, but that he is an officer that does things, and one that gives to the poor and rich the same kind of treatment that he swore when he assumed the duties of this high office that he would do, and that too without favor or affection.

The people are for Judge Sampson for a full term, he will have served only four years when the present term expires, with the record that he has made, clearing the dockets of each of the counties in his district, it would be folly for the people, under such circumstances, to let him out now, even if he did not want to be a candidate, he ought to be re-elected for a full term.

NEW CITY HALL.

Why not Barbourville have a City Hall of its own? It could at a small cost put up a Hall that would be a credit, not only to the City, but to the citizens; it is a sign of progress, and we should keep step with other parts of the State, other cities have them. The City of Barbourville has few outstanding debts, and its tax rate is so small that one feels that he is not doing his duty to the whole people, as well as himself, when he comes to pay the little amount that he is required to pay as city tax. We do not pay half as much tax as our neighbors of the same class, and some of them even pay three times the amount we pay.

We are classed as a city of the fourth class, why not have fourth class city ways, why not let the world know that we are actually alive, let them know that we mean business, say to them that Barbourville and its citizens are entitled to the best and as much of it as any one else.

We can build a City Hall with a place for the Council to hold their meetings, with a Court-room for the Police Court, an office for the City Attorney, one for the Chief of Police and one for the Assessor, for less than $5000, what does that amount to on the $100,000 worth of taxable property of the city, say for twenty years? Let's see; the rents for these places would be at least $300 per year, in twenty years that item alone could be $6000.00. Then in the same building have the city jail, and we would say that the city in 20 years would save another $6000.00, in the care of the prisoners of the city; add these two amounts together and you have $12000.00 for the two items, take your $5000.00 that the building would cost, and say that you pay interest at 5% for the use of the money, you would then be saving money for the tax payers of the city, and at the same time we would be enjoying the comforts of these buildings.

Some may say that we will never live to see this debt paid, that is true, many of us will not, but why should we worry? Let the younger generation take care of that, we are taking care of the things that our "daddies" did, why not let the next generation take care of the work that we have started? They will have it to do anyway, every generation takes care of its own business, then why not do these things and have some of the things already done that the younger set will want, and have, when they come to doing these things, and we at the same time may get just a taste of some of the things that they are going to have.

We have started on the way to progress, why not have it? We have telephones, electric lights, natural gas, and the best water system, and fire-fighting system in the State, why not go a step further and have it all, we can do it if we only will. We are betting our last cent on the City Council and its Mayor, we did that last fall, when it was necessary to do it, now we are betting that something will be done to the streets this year, and that we will have many improvements over the old year; we have some of the old Councilmen, and the same Mayor, but we also have some new ones, but they will do as well as the old ones did, and we will have many good things to boast of when they have finished their term.

BULL MOOSE

We do not hesitate to say that the Bull Moose Party is a thing of the past, but we do say that we are wont to condemn any man for being a Bull Moose, for they had for their leader a man who, when in power, did things, and we go one further, that if Theodore Roosevelt had been president of the United States the 'Mexican Muddle' would long since have been a thing of the past.

President Wilson has not done the things that the invincible "Theodore" would have done, there is no excuse for this long drawn out suspense, Mr. Wilson ought to tell those "Greasers" what they have to do, and then make them do it, there is no excuse for a country as large as the United States, who boasts as being the Monarch of the land and Mistress of the Seas, letting a little bunch of disgruntled scoundrels and murderers like those of the Republic of Mexico, kill and murder good English citizens, and citizens of this proud land of ours, and go uncouraged, we say that it is time for something to be done, and we believe that President Wilson should have the backbone to do it; what do you say my true brother American citizen, are you ready to go? I can answer it for you, "Yes," our Daddies and Grand Daddies fixed them in 1847 and 1848, why not we do it now, take the place, teach these Greasers that we Americans are patriotic, and let the world know that we mean every word of the Constitution, the Monroe doctrine, and everything else that tends to make America and Americans free, and good citizens.

WHO'S WHO WHEN IT COMES TO RUNNING?

It has been going the rounds and many are guessing who will be our next Representative in the House of Congress, and there is much speculation and some have it one way and some another; some say E. P. Morrow will be a candidate, some have spoken of D. C. Edwards, others of L. W. Berthurum and some are placing their money on J. F. Bosworth; White Moss has been looking over the game with an eye on the job; some think that Sawyer A. Smith is the man, and some have gone so far as to suggest that Powers run again, but, summing up the whole matter, what do you think of Mr. G. M. Smith, of Corbin? It has been suggested to Mr. Smith that he make the race, and scores of the leading Republicans from all over the District have been flooding Mr. Smith with letters urging him to become a candidate, we cannot say as to whether he will become a candidate or not, but we go one on him that if he does start he will reach the goal.

If a man was to kill your horse, sheep, hog, cow or any other kind of your property, the first thing you would do would be to see to it that the matter was squared at once, and if not you would resort to any means whatever, even to the using of your old trusty rifle, and in this you would be exactly right.

Well what is the United States going to do with Mexico? They have killed some of our citizens, they have assassinated them, tortured them, they have done everything it seems, that they can do to defy this Nation, they have thrown mud on our flag, not only that, they have defied us to wash it off, they say to us in a way, if you don't like it come and get us; will we do it, are we going to stand by and see this carnage go on? If we do we are no better than the "Greaser" himself, what is our National Congress and the President of these United States going to do? ????

WHICH PLAN DO YOU PREFER?

That is the Free-Trade idea. Open our markets free to foreign competition and dump a flood of foreign products upon the people of this country. The Republican plan, the true American plan, has been and is to make the foreigner who seeks admission to our markets pay for the privilege, thereby raising revenue to run the government, and incidentally affording Protection to the American farmer and manufacturer. Which plan do you prefer?—Rockport (Ind.) Journal.

HUSBAND RESCUED
DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good. I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without tiring me, and am doing my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of wonderful success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

TUBERCULOSIS

Is Infectious; Noted Expert Denounces Attack of Christian Scientists and Urges Hospitals and Precautionary Measures.

Replying to an attack on the movement for local tuberculosis hospitals made by the Christian Science Church, Dr. Hermann M. Biggs, State Commissioner of Health of New York, says in a statement published to-day through the Journal of the Outdoor Life, the official organ of The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, that tuberculosis is an infectious disease and that every precaution known should be taken, especially for the protection of young children. He particularly urges local hospitals.

The occasion for Dr. Biggs' statement is the recent wide dissemination of an article purporting to show that tuberculosis is not infectious. By quoting only a part of a medical paper written by Dr. E. R. Baldwin, of Saranac Lake, the Christian Scientists have given the impression that tuberculosis is not infectious, when, as a matter of fact, Dr. Baldwin laid stress on the extreme danger of the disease to children.

"Tuberculosis is an infectious and communicable disease," says Dr. Biggs. "No age is exempt, and no one is immune against tuberculosis infection, but differences in susceptibility exist at different ages. The frequency of infection increases rapidly from the first year until at the age of fifteen perhaps 75 percent of the population show a positive reaction to tuberculin, although only a small proportion have signs of the disease which can be detected by other means.

"The conviction has been gradually strengthened that the first infections from tuberculosis often occur during infancy and childhood. It seems probable that many of those who develop the disease in adult life have carried the latent infection since childhood, and have no recent and new infection when the symptoms of the disease appear.

"It has also been found by experiment that it is difficult to re-infect an animal that has already been previously inoculated with tuberculosis. Hence, it is inferred that some degree of immunity may be thus produced that may serve to ward off bacilli which might find lodgment in an individual not previously infected. Therefore, it will be understood how the mild infections, which are healed, and present in most persons who have reached adult age may, and presumably do, offer some protection against further limited invasions of the tubercle bacilli. While persons are in good health the protection thus offered is an advantage having some resemblance to vaccination, but only very limited in nature and not complete. Prolonged or intimate exposure, however, or exposure to a virulent type of tuberculosis may result in a new infection, even of those who have overcome a previous mild infection. It is, moreover, by no means certain that in debilitated conditions due to other diseases, to dissipation or to bad environment, new infections may not occur. We know positively that the first childhood infection may under such circumstances break out anew and thus become a doubtful advantage, a real sword with two edges.

"Considering the natural and acquired resistance to infection by adults, much unreasonable fear or 'phthisiophobia' has prevailed in late years. Because there is no precaution too great for the protection of the young and delicate, this does not justify healthy adults in exaggerated fears for their own safety. In view of the present wide distribution of the disease, and lack of adequate means for segregation, some exposure to infection is practically unavoidable. Efforts should be redoubled instead of relaxed for the better isolation, humane care and intelligent treatment of consumptives."

EX-NEWSBOY TALKS OF HIS LIFE
The little newsboys that haunt the streets of Kentucky cities will have to go out of business until they are older if the child labor bill now pending in the Kentucky legislature becomes a law. One ex-newsboy who has won a national reputation is the Rev. Charles Stelzel. He is a member of the New Jersey Child Labor Committee and he was asked the other day whether he agreed with those who defend street work as a wholesome occupation for boys.

"I do not," he said. "I was a newsboy for five years, and I know the work. It does not mean to say that a newsboy may not develop into the right kind of a man, but it will be in spite of the fact that he was a newsboy, not because of it. It is true that the contact the boy has with people sharpens his wits, but the danger is that he will depend exclusively upon those wits in his more serious work in later life.

"The whole glamor of the street gives the boy a disproportionate sense of real values. The tobacco taste of life that the newsboy gets destroys his taste for the more normal things. That is made apparent in the fact that when the average newsboy comes to apply his mind in school to study—he is not equal to his task. He cannot apply his mind consecutively and seriously.

"This idea that every newsboy is on the road to the White House is absolutely silly. It is true that the newsboy has the advantage over the more quietly trained boy when it comes to alertness and repartee, but in the long run he is outdistanced by the young fellow who has had the advantage of the school or some other work which may serve as an equivalent of a school education.

"This addition to that great disadvantage the newsboy is subjected to all the temptations of street life as far as his morals are concerned, and there is no doubt that his contact with these conditions and frequently his sufferings in other directions which may lead to toughening, actually take away from the finer sensibilities which go toward the making of the best kind of man."

Go to bed early, get up early, earlier, attend to your own business and with all your might let other people's alone. Talk less of your own peculiar gifts and virtues and more of your friends' and neighbors'. Give away or sell your dog. Be cheerful. Fulfill your promises. Pay your debts, so your friends can pay theirs. Be yourself all that you wish to be. Be good and stop grabbing. Be your natural self, and you will amount to something some day."—Exchange.

WHITLEY CITY COUNTY SEAT OF M'CREARY COUNTY

Decision by Judge Stout

Paris, Ky., Mar. 10.—(Special).—The bitter contest between Whitley City and Pine Knot for the county seat of McCreary county was brought to a close to-night when Judge Stout, presiding at the March term of the Bourbon Circuit Court, handed down a decision in favor of the former city. Judge Stout in his opinion stated that there was no law providing for a contest of an election to locate or change a county seat, and that election returns in the case of the vote being taken on the proposition submitted to the voters last November was final. The election was held in McCreary county to determine whether Whitley City or Pine Knot would be the county seat. Whitley City won the election by a majority of 189 votes. The election was contested by the people of Pine Knot and was submitted by the attorneys for both sides in this city this afternoon. The attorneys interested in the case who were here today were L. G. Campbell, of Pine Knot, and G. F. Gillis, of Williamsburg, and John Sampson, of Whitley City, and Judge Denton, of Somerset, and Walton Flippin, of Somerset.

SYNOPSIS.

Tommy North, returning to his room in Mrs. Moore's boarding house at 2:30 a. m., discovers the body of Capt. John Hanska, another roomer, with a knife wound on his breast. Suspicion rests upon a man giving the name of Lawrence Wade, who had called on Hanska in the evening and had been heard quarrelling with Hanska. During the excitement a strange woman who gives her name as Rosalie LeGrange, appears and takes into her own home across the street all of Mrs. Moore's boarders, including Miss Estrilla, an invalid, who was confined to the room she occupied and whose brother was a favorite among the other boarders. Wade is arrested as he is about to leave the country. Mrs. LeGrange, who, while plying her trade as a trance medium, had aided Police Inspector Martin McGee several times, calls at his office to tell what she knows of the crime. While she is there, Constance Hanska, widow of the murdered man, whose existence had been unknown, appears. Mrs. Hanska says she had left her husband and discloses the fact that Wade represented her and visited Hanska on the night of the murder in an effort to settle their affairs. She admits Wade was in love with her. Wade is held by the coroner's jury for the death of Hanska. Tommy North, who had been held by the police, is released and returns to Mrs. LeGrange's house. He becomes infatuated at once with Betsy Barbara. Driven by the belief that Betsy Barbara loves Estrilla Tommy North gets drunk and is discovered by Betsy Barbara. The next morning Tommy apologizes to Betsy Barbara and at her urging prepares to establish the Thomas W. North Advertising Agency. Mrs. LeGrange, with Inspector McGee, examines the house where Hanska was killed and finds on the fire escape outside Hanska's window a red shoe button, which she recognizes as one of Miss Estrilla's. She goes into a trance in Miss Estrilla's room and communicates with spirits. Rosalie secures from Inspector McGee the services of an Italian detective to work under her direction. Rosalie finds evidence to show that Estrilla's real name is Perez and that they formerly lived in Port of Spain.

CHAPTER XII.—Continued.

It came as she had expected—the second test. Clearly and distinctly, Miss Estrilla said in English:

"You are a fraud. I am pointing a revolver at your head. Wake and hold up your hands or I will shoot you!"

Rosalie slumbered on in seeming; and this time it needed no effort of the will. But the foot sent a thousand tiny twinkles of pain and discomfort up her ankle. She was meditating how she might manage a natural awakening, when Miss Estrilla shook her and said in her natural voice:

"Mrs. Le Grange! Mrs. Le Grange! Wake up!"

Rosalie came to full consciousness most artistically and effectively.

"What was it—dear me, my foot's asleep! Ow!" she said. She rose and hobbled about the room. "Did I stay out long? This just takes the gimp out of me—I won't be fit for a thing to-morrow an' it's scrub-day, too! What have I been talkin' about—or did I talk at all? They've told me that sometimes I never say a word."

"Oh, a great many things."

"Well, I must have, I'm that tucked out. Excuse me for askin', but was it about anybody in the house?"

"You did bring something for me; just a little—but it was something I wanted to know. Do you think you can find more next time, if—"

"Now, my dear!" put in Rosalie, "don't ask me that! I can't tell you how hard I've been tryin' to stop this thing, which is bothersome to say the best about it"—she crossed the room—

"That Sick Woman!" He Said.

"I've let it come these two or three times just because I couldn't help it. It would be askin' a lot."

"But it would comfort me," replied the invalid, weakly; and there were tears in her voice. "And, oh, you don't know how I need comfort!"

"Poor dear! I know how it is. You're sick, an' I suppose you have your troubles—we all have in this world. But when a person's sick, she just lays an' lets it roll up in her, like. Well, now, let's see—" Rosalie paused as though considering, "I tell you what I'll do. I won't try, an' I won't force it, but seein' this is private-like, I'll stop resistin' the influence when it comes over me. An' I'll always beat it straight here. Perhaps it was sent to do us both good! That's settled."

Rosalie held that night another of her outdoor conferences with Inspector McGee.

"Well, I'm comin' out with it," she announced. "I've got to tell somebody. I guess I've got your case started, Martin McGee!"

"Then this fellow Wade—"

"You make me," said Rosalie; "you make me want to shut my mouth an' never tell you anythin' at all. Wade! A cop can't keep two ideas in his mind at one an' the same time, any more'n a horse. Martin McGee, you listen an' don't you say a word until I'm through." With a logical consecutiveness almost surprising in Rosalie, she stated her case from the beginning. Tommy North's clew of the diamond ring which had set Rosalie on the trail, the discovery that the coverlet on Captain Hanska's bed had been wet with rain from the open window; the finding of the little red button on the fire escape, the discovery that Miss Estrilla had among her possessions a pair of red strapped shoes with a button missing, and the final fact—the button matched.

Inspector McGee received that dramatic information with a long whistle of amazement.

"That sick woman!" he said. "Gee, and I'd thought of examining her. But there didn't seem to be a chance on earth. I'd thought more about that brother of hers."

Rosalie pursued her narrative, setting forth her discovery that Estrilla was an assumed name and the discoveries of Detective Grimaldi about the history of the Perez family in Trinidad. She proceeded then to the seances, and to Miss Estrilla's attempt at frightening her out of control.

"Is that all?" asked McGee.

"Yes. Ain't it enough?"

"Well, it's suspicious. But there's no real evidence. Nothing you can convict on. Suppose I pinch her—and her brother, too—and give 'em the Third Degree?"

"See here, Martin McGee," replied Rosalie, "what have I been takin' all this trouble for, spendin' my good time to get her to believe I'm a medium, if I ain't to be trusted to run this case? You can have your Third Degree afterward—when I'm through with mine."

"That's so," replied McGee. "Well, anything I can do to help?"

"Yes. How long does it take to get a man to Trinidad? Or is there anybody in Port of Spain that you can use?"

"I've had a man there a week. Another case—missing burglar."

"That's good. Very important?"

"No. I guess he can be spared."

"Luck's with us if nothin' else. This is a three-times winnin'. Now you just cable him—wait a minute, I'll write the message—got a pencil an' paper?" They were in a side street. A lamp-post threw a shaft of light across the stoop of a vacant house. Rosalie set herself on the lowest step, braced the note-book which McGee produced, and, with many a purse of lip and brow, composed the following message:

"Drop anything and get full information on the late Miguel Perez, cacao grower of Port of Spain, and his family, especially Juan, his son, and a daughter, probably half-sister of Juan, name unknown. Details about life of the family especially wanted and the smaller the better. Learn everything you can about first wife. Suggest pumping old family servants. Wire in full as you get the dope."

"There," concluded Rosalie, "an' a lot I'm goin' to cost New York City for cable tolls."

"Say," said Martin McGee, "when they put this Estrilla woman through—if she's the one—I can see the papers. Woman against woman. Ex-medium sends victim to the—"

"Don't say that!" exclaimed Rosalie. "For God's sake don't!" She had been walking elbow to elbow, leaning a little upon him. Now she drew away. And much more that Martin McGee had intended to say, remained unsaid that evening.

CHAPTER XIII.

The Final Test.

Under the pretense that her obsession was driving her, that she had bottled it up too long, that "it just had to come out of her," Rosalie Le Grange multiplied the seances with Miss Estrilla to the point of danger and incantation.

On the second day after the session in which Miss Estrilla had tried the test of the fictitious revolver, she was back again. This time—having assurance that this was the true line of attack—she brought both Victoria and Miguel. Victoria, according to Doctor Carver, was the stronger; she spoke much, though vaguely. Miguel dropped only a few phrases—now Spanish, now English. During this session Miss Estrilla never moved nor spoke. But Rosalie, daring a look at her through her long lashes, perceived that her attitude was tense, rapt.

In this, her third seance, Rosalie was proceeding as cautiously as an elephant on a bridge, waiting for that first and vital question.

It came at the fourth sitting.

By this time, Rosalie had begun to receive cable reports from Port of Spain. The detective, it appeared, was a policeman of singular fidelity or of singular acumen. Taking literally the order about "little details," he had filed one of the most curious dispatches in the annals of the New York Police Department. It glittered with gems for Rosalie Le Grange. Especially was it strong in facts concerning Miss Estrilla's relations with her father. Their rides together when she was a little girl and the family was conspicuous on the island, the circumstances of an accident to one of the horses, even pet names and small coin of domestic intercourse—all this he set forth fully. Beyond doubt, he had found the "old family servant" mentioned in the telegram of instruction and milked him dry.

So at this fourth seance Rosalie brought out Miguel—that were too great a strain on her Spanish—but Victoria—introduced her, as usual, with vague sentences, growing always more definite, and crystallizing finally into the vital startling fact. Rosalie was speaking freely now, her pose that of a dead trance.

"Do you remember," she asked, "the time they carried you home, as though you were dead, from the stable, and you revived and spoke to me when they brought you in the door? Do you remember—Margey dear? The telegram from Detective Hawley had informed Rosalie that the baptismal name of Miss Estrilla—or Miss Perez—was Margarita; and that her mother used the name in its English form and her father in Spanish.

"I Am John, Margaret."

"Do you remember, Margey dear?" repeated the voice of the "spirit" through the entranced lips of Rosalie Le Grange.

"Yes," said Miss Estrilla, so suddenly that it nearly shook Rosalie out of the trance. "I remember, mother dear. What was his name—that horse?"

"(Still a little skeptical; but it's the last gasp. I'll fix her right now. Lucky I've got it!" said the mind of Rosalie Le Grange working rapidly behind her mask.)

"We had Billy and—but it wasn't he—it was that black horse Vixen which you would ride against my wishes!" said the voice. Rosalie heard Miss Estrilla heave a long sigh; heard her settle herself against the pillows as though quite overcome by emotion.

But Rosalie did not proceed directly along the road of treacheries which she was traveling. Victoria went away with the capricious suddenness of all Rosalie's spirit friends. The voice of Laughing-Eyes, the child control, burst in. Upon Miss Estrilla Rosalie used Laughing-Eyes sparingly. With an ignorant and overimpressible sitter she was an invaluable feature, this Laughing-Eyes. To a person of greater discernment, the child impersonation was likely to be ridiculous. Rosalie usually employed her, therefore, only to fill in the chinks, to occupy the time while she was thinking.

"Lady is gone!" said Laughing-Eyes. "Pretty lady! Another spirit—oh—I see pretty things! They shine—oh—go away. Come back! No, he will not stay." she paused here.

And now Miss Estrilla spoke again, and in such a tone that Rosalie knew she might hurry to her climax.

"Can't you bring him back, Laughing-Eyes?" she said. "Oh, please bring him back. Tell him, oh, tell him that I am not angry!" A dry sob shook the silences of the room.

"No. He is afraid. And he's weak in spirit!" babbled Laughing-Eyes. "Maybe he will come again—maybe!" And Laughing-Eyes giggled and babbled of Miguel and Victoria and a dozen spirits impertinent to Miss Estrilla. Yet always in her babblings she seemed to hold the atmosphere of truth; she referred casually and in remote ways to a dozen facts about Miss Estrilla's family and her past. Presently her voice died away; and Rosalie lay silent and impassive, waiting for Miss Estrilla to wake her.

CHAPTER XIV.

John Talks.

In the following seance—held the next afternoon at the special and plaintive request of Miss Estrilla—Rosalie Le Grange reached at last the very kernel of the matter.

She brought "John."

She had prepared, by a special and subsidiary line of play, for this vital move. She had been cultivating Constance Hanska. With arts all her own, Rosalie broke through the reserves of that distressed widow. From discussion of the murder, Rosalie led her on to details of her married life. From that, she lured Constance into deeper confidences, which involved the personal peculiarities of the late Captain Hanska, such as his way of speaking, the quality of his voice, and his methods with women. When Rosalie settled down to the fifth seance, she had in her mind a picture of John H. Hanska which was good enough for any of her purposes.

The preliminaries were over; Laughing-Eyes had gone her babbling way back to the land of spirit; Doctor Carver held control.

"A spirit has been trying to communicate, but he is a new spirit and not yet strong. He says that the lady's sickness is not of the body. It is of the mind. He also is not happy yet. John was his name on the flesh-plane—it is hard—we over here must make an effort—it is a strain on us as on the medium—I get an 'H.' In the ensuing silence, Miss Estrilla gave one hard sob.

The silence lasted for half a minute. Rosalie strained and struggled as though a tumult were going on within. Then came a man's voice, higher and softer than that of Doctor Carver.

"I am John, Margaret. I can not stay long. I am not strong—they tell us over here—that we must forgive—even as we are forgiven. But—I will come again—"

"Oh, John—I am trying to forgive—oh, do you understand—wait—" gasped Miss Estrilla.

But John spoke no more.

"He may grow stronger after a time," said the voice of Doctor Carver. "If this poor earth vessel through which we speak does not break." So he finished the pertinent part of that session.

The seances were coming every day now. Miss Estrilla wished it; and Rosalie granted her request with an appearance of indulgent reluctance. The next day, John intruded again. This time, it appeared, he had grown strong enough to speak consecutively. "I have not full power yet. But it is coming. I grow stronger. But the shock in my breast—I feel it." That was something of a venture. Rosalie waited to see what reply it would draw.

The reply came, quick and puzzling: "Did that come first then? Or, surely you didn't feel that?" asked Miss Estrilla as though in a fever of anxiety.

Rosalie, thinking like lightning, felt herself for the moment at her wits' ends. Upon the answer to that cryptic question everything might depend. It were best, she concluded, to humor Miss Estrilla; to give her what she wanted, but to make the wording vague. She let her body heave, as though John were retaining his control with difficulty.

"No," said the voice, "that was not first. It had come already. But, somehow—I knew."

"Oh, thank God!" cried Miss Estrilla. John departed on this. Doctor Carver and Laughing-Eyes spread clouds of mist, intellectual but rosy. They went; Rosalie entered that apparent sleep with which she concluded her "trances." As she lay there, with nothing to do but think, this new perplexity revolved itself in her mind. What meant that sudden question—"Did that come first?" The trail was leading into wildernesses of which she had never dreamed.

Rosalie held three more seances with Miss Estrilla before she reached the final vital one to which all her diplomacies had been leading.

John is speaking through the lips of Rosalie Le Grange; and Miss Estrilla is answering.

"I am stronger now. The flesh influence is not yet gone from me. There was much on my soul. I find it hard to forgive. And I know I must—little lady." Rosalie had learned from Constance that "little lady" was Captain Hanska's pet name for woman in tender relations, and she let it out as a venture.

"Oh, John! But consider how much I have to forgive. Ah, did you ever love me? You never answered my letters."

"I loved you perhaps too much. Over here, we can not lie. I was carried away—and I was married—"

"Yes. Every one knows that now. You deceived me. It is harder for me to forgive that than the other thing."

"Yes—but I loved you too much—to risk telling you."

"Was that why you kept the jewels, then?" A hard attack came into Miss Estrilla's tone. It was more than a question; there was irony in it. Rosalie thought rapidly. That diamond buckle on the stair-case—"the jewels"—here was a startling new correlation of facts. She must venture no further; she must have time to imagine and to plan.

"I can not tell you now," said the voice of John. "I am—growing weak—I sinned—"

"Oh, he's gone away!" broke in the voice of Laughing-Eyes.

Another seance. John is speaking, Miss Estrilla answering.

"Ah, I really love you. But I find it hard to forgive."

"Don't you understand, John, that it wasn't revenge? It was duty."

"I know. There is much that I do not understand, but I do understand that. In the flesh, I was always attracted by the glitter of jewels—"

This was a lead into territory only partially explored. And the road opened.

"I think there were two parts of you, John. But, oh, the better part loved me, did you not?"

"Yes, loved you truly, little lady."

"John, if you had stolen them out right—but to use my love!"

"I am going. I am not strong enough yet to endure reproach—"

"Oh, I will not reproach you again. You must forgive. You know how little you have to forgive. Wait, John, wait!"

John is speaking again; Miss Estrilla replies.

"They give me new strength every day. But this poor ignorant woman is weakening. Why did you try to get them as you did?"

"What was I to do when I found I had no claim under the law? What was I to do after you wrote me that letter?"

"That happened before I passed out. I could not see you then. And I have not seen any one clearly. I am not like the better spirits. My soul was not good when it left the flesh. But I think you came to New York just to get the jewels."

(This was a venture on Rosalie's part; still there were ways of retrieving the mistake if her guess was wrong.)

"Yes. It was my plan, not Juan's. I have been more foolish than he. Every day I spent in the room above you I was afraid you would discover me. Yet when I thought of you down there—I loved you still! But my eyes were really sick. It was because I cried so much—but I promised not to reproach you."

"Little lady—I was bad, but I loved you. I think if I had seen you, I would have restored them."

"Oh, John! That is hardest of all! John, I can not die and join you now—I dare not—because it would be wrong—and because of Juan!"

Rosalie noted how the name of Juan came in again. For caution, she must veer away from that lead at present.

WHAT $10 DID FOR THIS WOMAN

The Price She Paid for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Which Brought Good Health.

Danville, Va.—"I have only spent ten dollars on your medicine and I feel so much better than I did when the doctor was treating me. I don't suffer any bearing down pains at all now and I sleep well. I cannot say enough for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills as they have done so much for me. I am enjoying good health now and owe it all to your remedies. I take pleasure in telling my friends and neighbors about them."

Mrs. MATTIE HALEY, 601 Colquhoun Street, Danville, Va.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Griffo Gets Religion.

"Dowling's" burned out on Times square the other night, and those who for years had occupied rooms above the famous old billiard hall were forced to run for their lives in what raiment they happened to be wearing at that nocturnal moment. Among them was Kid Griffo, who was at one time a fighter between midnight and one o'clock in an uptown music hall.

"I did a nut trick," Griffo is quoted as saying. "I took two flights of stairs in two jumps, wif the fire bitin' at me. If I'd been left at the past you coulda buried me in a fryin' pan."

"And what did you get?" asked his friend.

"On them stairs," said Mr. Griffo, "I gets a pair of singed hands and religion."

LIFE'S ROAD

Smoothed by Change of Food.

Worry is a big load to carry and an unnecessary one. When accompanied by indigestion it certainly is cause for the blues.

But the whole trouble may be easily thrown off and life's road be made easy and comfortable by proper eating and the cultivation of good cheer.

Read what a Troy woman says:

"Two years ago I made the acquaintance of Grape-Nuts and have used the food once a day and sometimes twice, ever since."

"At the time I began to use it life was a burden. I was for years afflicted with bilious sick headache, caused by indigestion, and nothing seemed to relieve me."

"The trouble became so severe I had to leave my work for days at a time."

"My nerves were in such a state I could not sleep and the doctor said I was on the verge of nervous prostration. I saw an adv. concerning Grape-Nuts and bought a package for trial."

"What Grape-Nuts has done for me is certainly marvelous. I can now sleep like a child, am entirely free from the old trouble and have not had a headache in over a year. I feel like a new person. I have recommended it to others. One man I knew ate principally Grape-Nuts while working on the ice all winter, and said he never felt better in his life."

WHY MARTIN WAS DOCKED

According to System, He Was Away From Post of Duty, and That Settled It.

The boss on a large construction job in Western Canada was going over the accounts on payday with the new timekeeper. The timekeeper had been there but a week and was anxious to make good. The pay checks were regular enough, except one, which showed one hour less than the rest.

"Look here," said the boss suspiciously. "I thought everybody put in full time last week."

"All except Abe Martin, the night watchman," the timekeeper answered. "He was off duty one hour Wednesday night."

"Man alive!" exclaimed the astonished boss. "That was the night Abe discovered the burglar setting fire to the commissary building after he had robbed the storekeeper's till. Why didn't you hear about it? Everybody is calling Abe a hero, and," he whispered confidentially, "the railroad company is talking about rewarding him handsomely for what he did. If he hadn't captured the fellow, thousands of dollars' worth of supplies would have gone up in smoke."

"Yes, I know," agreed the timekeeper.

er, "I estimated the loss and figured that it would have run into as much as this job is worth."

"And Abe chased the fellow up into the hills," the boss continued. "The fellow was desperate and took two or three shots at Abe. They struggled desperately before Abe finally overpowered him and forced him back to camp. It was fully an hour before he got back, too."

"Sure!" responded the timekeeper triumphantly. "I docked him for the time he was gone."—Judge.

Women Advance in Astronomy.

Professor Whiting and Miss Allen of Wellesley have returned from the International Solar conference in Bonn, Germany, and from visits to English and continental observatories.

Both are enthusiastic about the advance of women in their social and official relations to astronomical study. At a re-

Two ladies resident for a lifetime in the house of the astronomer royal at Greenwich had never before been to a meeting of the society. In the observatory of Paris Professor Whiting found a young woman practically in charge of the time service and transit instrument.

WET FACTION MEETS DEFEAT

FIRST COUNTY UNIT BILL GOES TO GOVERNOR FOR SIGNATURE.

LOCAL OPTION MADE EASIER

Bill Provides That 25 Per Cent of Voters of a County Instead of a Predict May Call An Election.

(By Ernest W. Helm.)

Frankfort, Ky.—The advocates of intoxicating liquors were defeated overwhelmingly in the house when the Frost county unit bill passed, 72 to 22. The bill, having passed the senate, goes to Gov. McCreary for his signature.

Representative Judy, of Montgomery county, called the statewide prohibition bill from the Rules Committee to put it on its passage. This measure would have passed, but it was so crudely drawn that it had to be re-committed to be put into shape. It was made a special order for Thursday.

The rout of the wet faction in the legislature this session has been complete, as the Frost bill, which provides that 25 per cent of the voters of a county instead of a precinct may call a local option election, passed the senate by a vote of 2 to 1, and the House by a vote of 3 1/2 to 1.

Those who voted against the bill were Representatives Ampler, Brown, Davis, Drescher, H. C. Duffy, William Duffy, Duncan, Fryer, Judy, Klette, Kuh, McNally, Harry J. Meyers, Newman, O'Brien, Perry, Price, Reed, Spahn, Tieman, Walton and John F. White.

Debate upon the measure was brief, being limited to an attempt of the opponents of the bill to cloud the issue by the injection of the statewide prohibition question.

Representative H. C. Duffy offered an amendment by way of substituting for the unit bill a bill providing for a prohibition constitutional amendment. Representative Douglass raised the point of order that the substitute was not in order since it related to a different subject. Speaker Terrell sustained the point of order, declaring that the subject was not germane to the bill.

Other Bills.

The Judy bill, to prevent negroes from voting in white school elections, passed 58 to 17.

The Webb bill, giving county boards of education authority to call elections to vote for a special tax for consolidated school districts, was defeated, 18 to 36, as 51 votes were required to pass the measure. It contained an emergency clause.

The Oliver bill, empowering trustees of graded school districts to levy a school tax not to exceed 50 cents on the $100, was passed by a vote of 56 to 21.

Two bills were introduced. One by Representative Sharp would appropriate $25,000 to establish a state home for imbeciles. The other by J. T. Webb provides for the appropriation of $50,000 to establish a state normal school at Mayfield.

Held That Law Favors Farmers.

Protesting that the Kentucky anti-trust laws are unconstitutional and seek to take property without due process of law, the International Harvester Co. has filed its briefs in the supreme court at Washington. The most striking feature of the document, a summary of which has been received here, is the statement that Kentucky laws discriminate against dealers and manufacturers in favor of farmers and stockmen. The thing which the former class may not do, says the brief, the latter is specifically permitted to do. The brief calls attention to the pooling laws, under which farmers may band together and hold their product for a certain price, but declares that a manufacturer or dealer in a similar combination violates the state anti-trust laws.

Must Employ Veterinarian.

The bill, requiring counties to employ a veterinarian to inspect cattle for communicable disease, was passed, 47 to 22.

Representative Bailey's bill, providing that graduates of medical schools of good reputation be granted licenses to practice medicine with a state board examination, was passed by a vote of 49 to 9.

Pharmacists Aided.

The bill to grant licenses to pharmacists, without examination, when graduates of medical schools, was tabled by a viva voce vote.

Vinson Gives Up Post.

Criticism of the Department of Education for employing a Republican and a desire not to embarrass the educational interests in educational legislation pending before the general assembly were given by T. W. Vinson as reasons for resigning a clerkship in the department of education. He tendered his resignation in writing to State Superintendent Hamlett, who in a written communication to Mr. Vinson declined to accept it. Mr. Vinson declared, however, that his determination is final.

Passenger Rate Passes House.

Abandoning the chair in favor of Representative Hamilton, of Frankfort, and taking the floor in the interest of the 2 1/2-cent railroad fare bill, Speaker Claude B. Terrill, of Trimble county, had the satisfaction of seeing the measure pass the house of representatives by the vote of 68 to 19. After taking the floor Speaker Terrill agreed to an amendment to his substitute to the original bill offered by Representative E. D. Stone, of Crittenden county, so as to provide for a 2-cent fare, but this amendment was defeated by the vote of 48 to 38. A motion by Representative Judy, of Montgomery county, to table the original bill substitute and all pending amendments was defeated by the vote of 65 to 20.

Speaker Terrell made an earnest plea for the amendment looking to a 2-cent fare, but when it was defeated, centered his efforts on the substitute as originally drafted, providing for a fare of 2 1/2 cents for adults, 1 1/4 cents for children between the ages of 5 and 12 years, interchangeable mileage books, free baggage to the extent of 150 pounds and fixing the rate for excess baggage. He was opposed by Representatives Judy, Douglass, Meyers and others, but battled his way to victory. Representatives Kuh and Spahn were the only Jefferson county representatives who voted against the substitute when placed upon its final passage. The motion to table, however, was supported by Representatives William Duffy and Kuh, of the Jefferson county delegation.

Narrow Escape For Tax Bill.

Groggy from a week's rough handling, the bill looking to a change in Kentucky's tax system was saved from a complete knockout in the house by a bare majority of four. A motion to table the measure and all amendments was defeated 44 to 40. The motion was made by Representative Greene, of Carroll county, after Elwood Hamilton, of Frankfort, had offered as a substitute the original measure drafted by the special tax commission, of which he was a member. In his motion to substitute the original bill for that drafted later by a subcommittee of the house committee on revenue and taxation, Representative Hamilton said the latter measure had been so emasculated and altered by means of amendments that it would be a disgrace to place it upon the statute books. He said it seemed to be the wish of the majority of the house membership to pass a measure that would relieve people from taxation rather than one that would add to the state's revenue. As a last resort, he said, in the hope that some kind of a tax measure may be passed on to the senate he had offered as a substitute for the substitute the original bill. This latter was withdrawn and the house adjourned with the issue still hanging fire.

School Measure Amended.

After having passed, by a vote of 26 to 5, the senate reconsidered the Antle bill, amending the present law relating to graded common school districts and authorizing trustees to levy a tax not exceeding fifty cents on the $100 of property for their maintenance. The Antle bill, which was recommended by the Kentucky Educational association, is practically the same measure passed in the 1912 legislature, which was declared invalid by the court of appeals because the title was not perfected. On reconsideration, the bill was again passed by a vote of 24 to 11, after an amendment offered by Senator W. B. Moody, of Henry, requiring approval of the taxpayers of the school district before the trustees may levy the tax.

Tobacco Bill Amended.

At the night session of the house the bill of Representative Walton to require tobacco sales warehousemen to keep daily accounts of sales and make monthly sworn statements as to the sales and the types to the Department of Agriculture was amended to exempt sales that had been previously made at some other warehouse. It passed 74 to 9.

CAPITAL CHAT

George Kazee, of Elliott county, was appointed deputy warden and Gus Rogers, of Paducah, assistant deputy warden at the Frankfort reformatory. Kazee succeeds Sam Lykins, recently appointed custodian of the capitol, and Rogers succeeds Kazee.

Gov. McCreary appointed delegates to the Chicago Medical Society's Convention on Preventative Insanity which meets July 14. The delegates are Dr. J. A. Godson, of the Eastern State hospital; Dr. H. P. Sights, of the Western State hospital; Dr. G. W. Gardner and Dr. P. L. Peddicord, of Lakeland, and Dr. H. C. KeHoe, of the Feeble-Minded Institute.

By a vote of 33 to 0, the senate passed the Walton measure, better known as the "cold check" bill, providing for a heavy punishment for the offense of uttering a check or draft without funds to meet it. The measure previously had passed the house and goes to the governor.

Miss Margaret McChord, of Louisville, daughter of C. C. McChord, member of the interstate commerce commission, will unveil the monument of the late Gov. William Goebel on the capitol grounds, March 11.

WATERY BLISTERS ON FACE

Smithville, Ind.—"Six months ago our baby girl, one year old, had a few red pimples come on her face which gradually spread causing her face to become very irritated and a fiery red color. The pimples on the child's face were at first small watery blisters, just a small blotch on the skin. She kept scratching at this until in a few days her whole cheeks were fiery red color and instead of the little blisters the skin was cracked and scaly looking and seemed to itch and burn very much."

"We used a number of remedies which seemed to give relief for a short time then leave her face worse than ever. Finally we got a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. I washed the child's face with very warm water and Cuticura Soap, then applied the Cuticura Ointment very lightly. After doing this about three times a day the itching and burning seemed entirely gone in two days' time. Inside of two weeks' time her face seemed well. That was eight months ago and there has been no return of the trouble." (Signed) Mrs. A. K. Wooden, Nov. 4, 1912.
